Provision of information to third parties

The Practice may share your personal information with other NHS organisations where this is appropriate for your healthcare.

In other circumstances, we may approach you for specific consent to release personal information to third parties.

Information will not normally be released to other family members without written patient consent.

In some circumstances, there are statutory or ethical obligations to disclose information to others (such as public health issues) which may not require your consent, however you may be consulted about these in advance.

All staff have access to your medical and personal details, which is required in relation to their roles, and have completed confidentiality agreements.

If you require information regarding a person other than yourself, we will seek consent from that person or, if this is not possible, we will need to see relevant documentation (for instance Certificate of Lasting Power of Attorney or Death Certificate) before disclosing their information.
